How to track changes to table in database I'm trying to build an application where data stored in the database could be synchronized with mobile app. This way, users would have all data at all times, even when the app is closed. The key of data synchronization is that all the data must be as fresh as possible. That's why, I'm using app of type background-sync to synchronize the data. What I've done is as following: I've created a new database, migrated it in cloud firestore and sync it

firebas eDb.collection("remoteData baseName/tableName")
.get().addOnCompleteListener ner(new OnCompleteListener() { @Override public void onComplete(@NonNull Task
