My name is Michael, I'm from Victoria, Australia. I'm a web designer and developer, with a passion for the web. This is a blog of things that I create, things that I find, things that inspire me, my work and life in general. My blog covers many subjects such as, music, computers, games, books, art, photography and the web. I try to be as approachable as possible in what I do and provide value in what I write. If you think any of my work may be of interest, please feel free to link to it, or contact me. Please also feel free to suggest ideas for subjects you might like to see me write about.Q: Reasons for asking questions I've seen many meta questions like "what's the purpose of a question" or "why ask a question here" or "why someone got a downvote?" These questions are quite interesting but in my opinion these questions can have a negative impact on the community. Why should we stop people from asking any question, whether it's informative, broad, opinion-based or otherwise "stupid" (criteria of those stupid questions). If we allow answers that show the reasons why someone has posted a question, people might become discouraged from posting questions here. They might feel they won't get any answers to their question so they might stop trying. So, we should ban this kind of answers because we don't want to stop people from asking questions. In my opinion, the questions/answers should be as limited as possible, not allowing anything that might discourage people from asking questions and not allowing users to post answers that explain why they posted the question. What are the reasons behind this? A: I think a good reason behind the limitations is stopping the platform becoming a "

What is this screensaver? Is this screensaver free? Or do you want money for it? Thanks, Wouter Hi Guys, I'm trying to add a screensaver where I have a lot of HTML code added into the screensaver so, that you can view it. Can you help me with the code? I would like to have something like this: Thanks, Gino Hello, I'm studying the screensaver for my final project at university. I would like to find out more about how the screensavers are made? Is there a way of finding out the source for someone that wants to make their own screensaver? Is there a tutoire or guideline of which compiler is best for learning to make screensavers? Thank you, Vincent You will want to watch this if you own a blackberry. Its a nice screensaver with great music, very apt for a blackberry. It also has a built in radio station. Also please don't get this screensaver unless it's free. My favourite - it's from Midnight Cowboy soundtrack, very funny. I'm sure you've heard this one already. My other favourite - Love Story - again, from the Midnight Cowboy soundtrack. I'm a huge fan of music and that's why I don't like many screen savers - they are mostly lame. Screensavers are meant to fill the time you spend on the computer. If you have a computer with a huge screen, have a huge desktop and lots of programs running (and using up your memory), screensavers can't really help you. If you have low memory
