Carcinomas of the lung, although relatively uncommon, may be approached during a thoracotomy. A variety of complications can be expected and include positive mediastinal nodes. The authors present a patient with a mediastinal metastasis from a primary adrenal malignancy who presented with a small pleural effusion. The tumor was demonstrated with a thoracoscopy and resected. The histology identified the primary as a melanoma.You're currently viewing our forum as a guest. This means you are limited to certain areas of the board and there are some features you can't use.
