The administration had posted "Ejay 6.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a head-up display system that projects a virtual image of an image formed by a projector onto a projection optical system to be superimposed on a road ahead of a vehicle for example. 2. Description of the Related Art A method for producing a head-up display system is known in which a driver is provided with an image on a head-up display system using a projector as described in Japanese Laid-Open Patent Application H10-329524. The virtual image of the image thus projected is disposed at a position where the driver can see the virtual image reflected by a reflection surface. The head-up display system described in Japanese Laid-Open Patent Application H10-329524 (hereinafter referred to as "prior art") has a unit for adjusting the offset amount of the virtual image between the driver's eyes and the reflection surface on the basis of the size of the virtual image produced by the projector in the horizontal direction or the vertical direction. If the virtual image is to be switched between
